

The President has the word

Dear All,

With this issue of our first Newsletter in 2014 I would like to take the opportunity to wish all of you another progressive new year in Budo. Within this newsletter you will find many impressions from our activities in 2013 and a quick overview on several events in 2014.

This year we are officially celebrating our 30 Years Anniversary of IMAF Europe and I hope this will be the perfect motivation to go on strong in community, like we did in the past.

I express my deepest gratitude to all, who made IMAF Europe such a big success, a real Martial Arts Family and investing all their time and work over the last 30 years.

"Apply the way of Budo to all things in Life, therein lies the secret!"

Editorial

It was quite a shock for us to hear that one of the foremost important man of our time, Nelson Mandela past away.

To remember him, one of his sayings, which is also very much Budo:

"When you see somebody is doing something good, give him a compliment. When you see somebody is doing something wrong, offer him your help"

Dear Members,

I would like to take the opportunity to introduce to you this almost forgotten, but interesting document, titled "Budo Kensho" concerning the goals of Budo established by some leading federations in Japan in 1987 to protect and preserve the spirit and values of traditional Budo. During the first European Budo Symposium held 1998 in Moers (Germany) Mr. Feliks Hoff already mentioned the enormous importance of this document. Chairman of the meeting was Dr. Takahiro Shinjo from the Japanese Embassy. It was a great honor being invited as a guest that day.

Regards,
Jens Fricke

The Budō Charter (Budō Kenshō)

Budō, the Japanese martial ways, have their origins in the age-old martial spirit of Japan. Through centuries of historical and social change, these forms of traditional culture evolved from combat techniques (Jutsu) into ways of self-development (Dō).

Seeking the perfect unity of mind and technique, Budō has been refined and cultivated into ways of physical training and spiritual development. The study of Budō encourages courteous behaviour, advances technical proficiency, strengthens the body, and perfects the mind. Modern Japanese have inherited traditional values through Budō which continue to play a significant role in the formation of the Japanese personality, serving as sources of boundless energy and rejuvenation. As such, Budō has attracted strong interest internationally, and is studied around the world.

However, a recent trend towards infatuation just with technical ability compounded by an excessive concern with winning is a severe threat to the essence of Budō. To prevent any possible misrepresentation, practitioners of Budō must continually engage in self-examination and endeavour to perfect and preserve this traditional culture.

It is with this hope that we, the member organisations of the Japanese Budō Associations, established The Budō Charter in order to uphold the fundamental principles of Budō

ARTICLE 1 : OBJECTIVE OF BUDŌ

Through physical and mental training in the Japanese martial ways, Budō exponents seek to build their character, enhance their sense of judgment, and become disciplined individuals capable of making contributions to society at large.

ARTICLE 2 : KEIKO (Training)

When training in Budō, practitioners must always act with respect and courtesy, adhere to the prescribed fundamentals of the art, and resist the temptation to pursue mere technical skill rather than strive towards the perfect unity of mind, body, and technique.

ARTICLE 3 : SHIAI (Competition)

Whether competing in a match or doing set forms (Kata), exponents must externalize the spirit underlying Budō. They must do their best at all times, winning with modesty, accepting defeat gracefully, and constantly exhibiting self-control.

ARTICLE 4 : DŌJŌ (Training Hall)

The Dōjō is a special place for training the mind and body. In the Dōjō, Budō practitioners must maintain discipline, and show proper courtesies and respect. The Dōjō should be a quiet, clean, safe, and solemn environment

ARTICLE 5 : TEACHING

Teachers of Budō should always encourage others to also strive to better themselves and diligently train their minds and bodies, while continuing to further their understanding of the technical principles of Budō. Teachers should not allow focus to be put on winning or losing in competition, or on technical ability alone. Above all, teachers have a responsibility to set an example as role models.

ARTICLE 6 : PROMOTING BUDŌ

Persons promoting Budō must maintain an open-minded and international perspective as they uphold traditional values. They should make efforts to contribute to research and teaching, and do their utmost to advance Budō in every way.
